CITY IN BRIEF.

The City Band will give a concert next Sunday evening at Masonic Hall.

A free kindergarten entertainment will be given Thursday, at the High School of the South Side.

V. K. Morris will lecture on Mexico tomorrow night at the Friends' Church, on North Delaware street.

Captain Rexford will read his paper on "Women," before the Equal Suffrage Association at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The alumni of Butler University will meet at the President's office tomorrow for the purpose of arranging for the June reunion.

The three-year-old baby of Mrs. Emma Rosenthal, of 221 East Ohio street, was born off early last evening, and at last accounts had not been found.

Felix Robbins was arrested yesterday for the alleged theft of a pocketbook containing a small sum of money from a lady who resides on McCarty street.

Duffy was the thief "and so informed the police authorities. Patrolman Conklin was de- tailed to watch him, and yesterday, when the family went to church, the copper concealed himself behind a door. Duffy soon entered the room, and was about to step toward a bureau when, by some means, he became aware of the officer's presence and changed his mind. Conklin then placed him under arrest.

AMUSEMENTS.

ENGLISH—"LITTLE NUGGET."
"Little Nugget" or "Grinder's Kid," a sparkling new comedy by Horace Castle and Oscar Sisson, will open a week's engagement at English's to-night—usual matinee. Admission 10 and 20 cents. The cast contains the following Indianapolis favorites: Ellis Lewis, Frankie Jones, Mollie Sisson and the California Sissos. These people are "Bright Meteors" of the profession, and in this new comedy have an opportunity to display their versatile talents. At the prices offered it is safe to prophesy that the sign of "standing room only" will be displayed every night of the week.

THE GRAND—"OLD WORLD GEM COMPANY."
The world-renowned "Old World Gem Company" opens an engagement of four nights and Wednesday matinee at English's to-night. For novelty and originality this is one of the greatest companies ever organized, embracing, among others, the great Edelweiss Mountain Choir, a family of world-renowned Alpine minstrels and Tyrolean warblers; Mlle. Ada Laurens, the famous European change artist; Jaguarine, mistress of the sword and marvel of perfect womanhood—an ideal Amazon, in brilliant play at arms and exciting combat; Mr. Patrick, the Shanghai of Celtic minstrelsy, in a grand budget of unapproachable new songs; Herbert Bros., gymnasts and acrobats; Feltz and Webster, in a humorous musical melange entitled "Bob's Visit to the City"; and a series of beautiful stage pictures in which the finest works of art will be represented by living figures correctly costumed and artistically grouped; also Miss Marie Lettice, the original idol of the London dandy, in a sparkling repertoire of new and original songs, besides a host of others. No such original and attractive entertainment has ever been given here, and we look to see the theater crowded throughout the entire engagement.

THE MUSEUM.
The Dime Museum will open the week, this afternoon, with the following magnificent list of attractions: Eli Bowen, the wonderful man with feet and no legs, yet can run, walk or skate a mile with perfect ease; the marvels of music; the Hooz children; the scene of mechanism; the walking and running steam man made entirely of steel; Sliding Ball's daughter, Princess Pocahontas, the Indian Venus; Mena Leon, the modern Hercules; and the great illusion of modern times, the three-headed songstress. The stage show in the theaterium will be given by the Joseph H. Keane "Mrs. Partington" company, which comprises, besides the star, Miss Minnie Kiesel (of this city), Miss Estelle Bartlett, Miss Nettie Lyford, J. H. Harris, John Power, J. P. Conley and Harry Barlow. The company comes well recommended by the press of other cities. Between the acts, Silvio, the Innovator, will give his wonderful performance. This will unquestionably be the strongest show of the season and no one should miss it. Ten cents admits to all.

THE ZOO.
The new Zoo blows in to-night. It has been totally transformed and big promises are made that Charley Gilmore says will be redeemed to night. There will be a crash and no mistake. Go early unless you want to stand up all evening. One of the best society organizations on the road—the "Sibon 'Cupid' company"—opens the festivities.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. Hendricks left Washington last night for Indianapolis.

Our esteemed friend, Frank L. Gates, formerly of the Indianapolis Sentinel, has been selected as one of the delegates to represent Typographical Union No. 1 in the June session of the I. T. U. This is an honor worthily bestowed, and Frank will keep up the high standard of No. 1's delegates in the past, and will rank with such names as W. W. Dwyer, Henry C. Deck, P. J. Kelly, L. W. McDaniels, L. P. McCormick, O. B. Rankin, O. A. Schuman, John Schuler and others. Any union should be proud to number the above named gentlemen as members, for every one of them are well known workers in the good cause.—Union (O.) Advocate.

Independent Turnovermen.

The Independent Turnovermen gave an exhibition of the classes under instruction of the society at the Grand Opera House last night. The entertainment consisted of tableaux, gymnastic exercises and music. A large and appreciative audience was in attendance.

Institute of Homeopathy.

The nineteenth annual session of the Indiana Institute of Homeopathy will be held at Plymouth Church on the 19th and 20th inst. A programme including sixty-two papers by physicians from all sections of the State has been prepared.

A DANGEROUS AFFRAY.

Fred Ems and Chris Wickler Knifed at a Surprise Party—Ems' Condition Critical.

A number of the friends of Fred Ems, residing at 256 Bates street, tendered him a surprise party night before last and the guests were enjoying themselves finely when, at midnight, Ed Quinlan, Dan Keefe and John Lyons entered the house. They had not been invited, but the intrusion was overlooked by the host, and the trio, with more of greed than manners, helped themselves liberally to the good cheer which had been provided. Even this failed to excite the ire of the good-natured guests, and the roughs then went out of doors and began peering in at the windows as though they had not seen all that was in the inside. With this Mr. Ems went out to request that they go away and cease annoying the guests, but the roughs made a murderous attack upon him with a knife, stabbing him once in the shoulder and once in the neck, the latter being a very dangerous wound. Meanwhile, Chris Wickler, one of the guests who ran out to his friend's assistance, was also stabbed in the shoulder. The gang then left the premises and the two men returned into the house where the knife was found still embedded in Ems' neck to the depth of an inch, and his clothing literally covered with blood. Drs. Thomas and Hadley were called and the police were notified of the affair. After dressing the wounds of Ems and Wickler the physicians announced that two of the veins in the neck of the former had been cut, and that he was in a very dangerous condition. Wickler's injury was less serious, but very painful. The three toughs were arrested at an early hour yesterday morning and lodged in the station house. Ems says that Lyons is the man to whom he is indebted for his wounds, and Wickler recognized Quinlan as his assailant. Keefe appears to have been an interested spectator of the affray, even if he didn't give aid and comfort to the enemy. Both of the wounded men are in the employ of the Big Four Railway.

LIEUTENANT DENNY AT PANAMA.

"Everything Unsettled and Volcanic in This Country."

Judge Denny is in receipt of a letter from his son, Lieutenant Frank Denny, who accompanied the United States expedition to Aspinwall, the letter being written from Panama on the 14th of April. The letter says: "We found Aspinwall in a bad plight—only one or two decent houses escaped the flames. It was a miniature Alexandria so far as debris and bare walls are concerned. We landed during the afternoon of our arrival, and at once took the trail for Panama, where we are now encamped. We occupy the building and grounds of the Panama Railroad Company. Of course we are neither happy or comfortable. The heat is intense, the water and food not good, the mosquitoes both affectionate and persistent and our status unsatisfactory and indeed vile. We are here, as you may have seen in the papers, to maintain a free, open tunnel across the Isthmus and protect American lives and property. Just now everything is unsettled and volcanic in this country. A rebel, or at least he was regarded with the rebels ten days ago, is now in command of the town. The chief rebel (Preston) left for unknown parts immediately after burning Colon, or Aspinwall, as the Americans call it. Just before our arrival the native rebels swore they would attack and burn Panama, but thus far we have had no fun. We have put our camp in an excellent military position, and every precaution has been taken, and our condition is improved. No one can tell whether we shall have a row, I hope we may, however. We are constantly on watch day and night."

THE ELKS.

The Last Social of the Season—Large Attendance and a Good Time.

The Elks gave their last social of the season, last night, to a large attendance of citizens and professional people now in our city. The one given two weeks ago was great, but the one of last evening snowed it under. An orchestra of eighteen musicians furnished the necessary music under the leadership of Professor Kickenboffer. Songs, recitations, funny anecdotes, etc., by the members of the lodge and the guests present, helped to render the social one of the most enjoyable affairs ever given in our city. Oscar P. Sisson, a widely-known professional man, in the position of Charles E. in an admirable manner. The lodge of Elks in this city has been in existence but four years. Commencing with only a handful, their membership now represents about 150 of our people in all branches of business. The order was created in New York in the year '64, made up of actors only, having for its purpose scalability and pretension. In the last ten years it has been open to all gentlemen of good standing. The work accomplished by the Elks has always been of great benefit to the civilized world.

He Wants a Divorce.

A New Yorker, who evidently thinks that the divorce laws of Indiana are made for the accommodation of men who live in other States, has written two or three times to an attorney of this city, wanting to know all about the divorce laws. As he has never thought to enclose a "retainer," and his much writing has wearied the lawyer, the latter Saturday responded as follows to his last letter:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 23, 1885.
DEAR SIR—Your very interesting combination of conundrums under date of New York, April 23, is now in due course of business consideration. As no retainer accompanied the request for a lecture on the divorce laws of Indiana, and as no stamp for return letter accompanied the invoice, and as no reference to any one known in this office was observed in your communication, delay has probably necessarily been made in return of the information sought.
Of course you have intended daily, and doubtless hourly, to remit fifty dollars retainer fee, but as no such messenger has yet arrived, we will for the present at least, inflict no hasty opinion on you regarding this very interesting and romantic topic.
The world may think we work for health, forget it not—we work for profit. Thus gladly would we work for thee, while gazing on a beautiful face.
